Listening two

One sunny Saturday morning, he decided to go camping in the mountains, so he packed his tent, sleeping bag, snacks, and his map. After driving for an hour, he reached the campsite, surrounded by tall trees and the sound of birds singing.

He was so excited as he set up his tent. He then went for a hike along a nearby path. The fresh air filled his lungs as he walked, and he saw butterflies and colourful wildflowers along the way. After a while, Salim sat down by the lake and enjoyed his tea and snacks while fishing.

As the sun began to set, he returned to his campsite, built a small fire, and roasted the fish. The warm glow of the flames lit up the night, and Salim listened to the sounds of insects and frogs around him. Later, he crawled into his sleeping bag, feeling happy and tired. Under the starry sky, he slept, dreaming of more camping adventures to come.
