You are going to hear Sara talking about a school traditional celebration.

Listen to the text twice and answer the questions

Two years ago, our school decided to have a traditional celebration at the end of the academic year. I invited two of my friends from Britain, Sara and her mother, to experience this special event. They arrived at the end of April.

The next morning, we went to the school fair. The atmosphere was exciting with colorful decorations and cheerful music.

During the break time, we enjoyed a presentation about the history of Oman done by grade eight students, including traditional dances and a play about Omani history.

Later, we visited the game section where we tried our luck at different traditional games. Sara's mother won a gift of a camel toy, which she liked very much. We also participated in making pottery, Sara made a very beautiful pot with Islamic designs.

At the end of the day, we took photographs in traditional clothes. Sara and her mother loved the shuwa and halwa. It was an unforgettable experience.
