Listening 2

It was a Saturday morning, and the sun was shining brightly. Ali and his friends, Salim, and Khalid had decided to go to the park for a picnic. They brought a blanket, a basket full of food, and a frisbee.

When they arrived at the park, they found a spot in the shade of a tree and spread out their blanket. They ate their sandwiches and fruit, and then they played frisbee. Khalid was the best frisbee player out of the three of them, and he often made Ali and Salim laugh with his trick shots.

After a while, they decided to go for a walk around the park. They saw these families having picnics, children playing on the playground, and couples walking hand-in-hand. Ali felt happy being with his friends.

Later that afternoon, they went to the cinema. They saw a new comedy film that made them laugh. After the movie, they went to a nearby ice cream shop and got milkshakes.

As they sat on a bench outside the ice cream shop and enjoyed their milkshakes, Ali thought about how much fun he had had that day. He was happy for his friends and for all the good times they had together.

He knew that being a teenager could be tough sometimes, but he also knew that it was a special time in his life. He was excited to see what the future held, and he knew that he would always have his friends by his side.
