I still remember my first time to go to the cinema. It was my nineth birthday when my mother decided to take me and my sister to watch a film. When my mother told me that we were going to watch a film at a cinema theatre, I thought that it would be similar to watching films at home. I can still remember the name of the film that we watched. It was entitled "The Dinosaur" which was searching for a new place to live in. It took us half an hour to reach there. When we entered the cinema theatre, I was shocked to see the huge screen. Also, the speaker volume was so high that I shouted: "Aren't they going to turn down the volume?". When the film started, the lights switched off. I felt very afraid that I started to cry. Mom noticed that I was crying. So, she tried to calm me down while my sister was laughing at me. After some time, I got used to it and I started enjoying it. I was so happy and excited that I kept on talking about that experience for about a week. I loved it and since then I have never stopped going to the cinema. I like to go to the cinema every Saturday. I will always remember the day that I went to the cinema for the first time.
